WORK EXPERIENCE

TEK-TILES MASTERMIND, Brooklyn Fashion & Design Accelerator

Summer '18: Developed innovative textile-based solutions to user-centric issues within an interdisciplinary team, with an emphasis on sustainability and knitting technologies. Worked on a jacket with embedded Augmented Reality and an insole for improv dancers that generates visual effects.

INTERN, Brandon Maxwell Studio, NYC

Summer '17: Worked with Production Manager to correspond with Garment District factories. Assisted during market week, fit model casting, fittings, and at F/W '17 campaign shoot. Returned to work at NYFW S/S '18 show in 2017.

DESIGN INTERN, Polo Ralph Lauren Hosiery (Renfro Hot Sox), NYC

Summer '17: Communicated with international vendors, organized and evaluated incoming product samples, attended product review meetings with Polo Corporate, evaluated samples, and completed original CADs.

VOLUNTEERING & RESEARCH

RESEARCHER, Nano-Extended Textiles (NEXT) Research Group

Fall '17 - Present: Collaborate with the NEXT graduate research team to execute the physical prototyping of projects involving apparel and/or sewing, including a knit headband that houses electrodes for a sleep study, and a functional athletic shirt with screen-printed electrodes that capture ECG data.

CO-FOUNDER & VOLUNTEER LEADER, The Pillowcase Project at NC State

Spring '15 - Present: Organize student volunteers and lead workdays aimed at creating joy and comfort with pillowcases for kids at UNC Children's Hospital.
